The May 4th Task Force
Kent State University students and faculty are cordially invited to attend the memorial naming ceremony to occur in front of the library at noon on May 2, 1977. Four campus buildings will be named in honor of the four students slain here on May 4, 1970—Allison Krause, Sandy Scheuer, Bill Schroeder, and Jeff Miller.

Although it is true that the four students did not contribute as much academically or financially as other persons that have had buildings named for them, they should be remembered for their pursuit of a higher goal. As the Stater editorial said on April 26 of this year, "The contributions made by Jeff, Sandy, Bill, and Allison weren't only to KSU. They gave their lives as an international symbol of free speech and assembly and they should be remembered officially at the place where they made that sacrifice."

We encourage all persons in the Kent State Community to join us on May 2 and to henceforth refer to the Business Building as Schroeder Hall, the Art Building as the Krause Art Building, the Music and Speech Building as the Scheuer Music and Speech Center, and the Library as the Miller Memorial Library.

HOW QUICKLY WE FORGET...

ON MAY 4, 1970, FOUR KENT STATE STUDENTS DIED IN FRONT OF TAYLOR HALL.
ON MAY 4, 1977, KENT STATE UNIVERSITY STUDENTS WILL BE EXPECTED TO ATTEND CLASS AS USUAL.
SOMEHOW, THERE IS SOMETHING WRONG WITH THE WAY THAT K.S.U.'S ADMINISTRATION HAS CHOSEN TO PRETEND THAT NOTHING HAPPENED HERE SEVEN YEARS AGO.
WE SUGGEST THAT YOU NOT ATTEND CLASSES ON MAY 4 BECAUSE OF THIS OUTRAGEOUS ATTITUDE.

NO CLASSES MAY 4
