MEMORIAL EVENTS -- MAY 4, 1978

May 12, 1977 -- KSU Board of Trustees established The May 4th Commemoration Committee, to be chaired by Dr. Raghbir S. Basi (formerly director of the University's Center for Peaceful Change).

January 25, 1978 -- President Golding responded to report of the Commemoration Committee, which included representatives of the City of Kent, the University administration, Student Caucus (undergraduate student government), Faculty Senate, Civil Service employees, Graduate Student Council and KSU Alumni Association. The report included more than 20 recommendations, one of which was appointment of a "broadly-representative body" to be known as The University May 4th Observance Committee." The president said the committee "will be charged with responsibility for reviewing and coordinating all of the activities associated with the University's observance of the May 4th anniversary, including continuations (events) from the past...

February 2, 1978 -- Leaders of the May 4th Task Force reject membership in the University May 4th Observance Committee. The Task Force had been responsible for planning May 4 programs for both 1977 and 1976. President Golding, in establishing the Observance Committee, had said "...While I acknowledge that group's desire to continue (planning the May 4 program), it is not reasonable for a small group, apparently composed only of self-appointed students, to carry the responsibility for an observance which affects far more persons than a given year's student body. The entire (KSU) community has a stake not only in the history of May 4, 1970, but also in the way in which its anniversary observance will continue to affect the University...."

March 31, 1978 -- George Segal, internationally-known sculptor, accepts a $100,000 commission to do a bronze sculpture as a memorial to the events of May 4, 1970. The Mildred Andrews Fund, a Cleveland foundation which funds a broad range of artistic endeavors throughout the nation, offered the commission to Segal.

March 30, 1978 -- Following a rally at the Kent Student Center Plaza, about 50 persons (students and non-students) marched to Rockwell Hall to present a series of demands to President Golding. The demands included: 1) that the University May 4th Observance Committee be abolished and that recommendations of the May 4th Task Force for a program May 4 be adopted; 2) that the University publicly condemn Gov. James Rhodes and the Ohio National Guard for the fatal shootings of four students on May 4, 1970; 3) that the University withdraw a court order (presently inactive) banning unauthorized rallies on the KSU campus, and 4) that all classes on May 4 be cancelled (the May 4th Observance Committee had recommended that some classes on May 4 be cancelled). Golding rejects demands.

April 10, 1978 -- May 4th Observance Committee gives de facto approval to program proposed by the May 4th Task Force.

April 10, 1978 -- May 3 and May 4 activities of the May 4th Task Force are announced (see attached list).
April 13, 1978 -- President Brage Golding announced that the University's observance of May 4 will include cancellation of all classes. In making announcement, the president said, "... We intend to pursue this course because it is reasonable and right, not because it has been insisted upon by this or that group..."

Observance committee approves final draft

Catalog to contain May 4 description

By TERRY MAZZONE
For the first time since the May 4, 1970 shootings, the University catalog will have a brief description of the day when four students were killed here and nine others wounded by Ohio National Guardsmen. The May 4 Observance Committee approved the final draft of the statement Thursday night which, according to chairperson Helen Tyler, was drawn up by "various hands" of the university.

The committee was also informed of the Bucky Ames Construction Co. agreed to suspend work May 4 on the gym annex in response to a request from KSU President Brage Golding.

The catalog statement described the events leading up to the shootings and what has been done since then to memorialize the event.

The statement says in part: "the loss of the four students killed and the pain of the nine wounded was a pivotal moment in the history of Kent State, a moment deeply felt by many students, faculty staff and friends."

CONCERNING THE May 4 Task Forces' request to use Memorial Gym as an alternate site for May 4 activities if the weather is inclement, Dr. Richard Bredemeier said another back up is needed. Bredemeier, associate dean for Student Life, said the Scheduling Office told him the gym is too close to the gym annex, which is under a court injunction. The committee passed a motion asking Golding to review the decision to have the gym available.

In other action, the committee recommended to Golding that three professors be considered to write a brochure concerning the May 4 events.

DR. THOMAS Hasley, a political science instructor, Dr. Jerry Lewis, a sociology instructor and Dr. Glenn Frank, a geology professor were recommended.

Theatre production of May 4 to be taped for TV broadcast

By BETH BELTON
The national television network, CBS, will be on campus today with video-tape a presentation of "A Wake," a reader's theatre production of events here May 1 to 4, 1970.

The show, scheduled for 8 p.m. in University Auditorium, includes a multimedia slide show, original songs and music, and narration in the words of Mrs. Florence Schroeder, mother of William Schroeder, one of the four students killed, here by National Guardsmen eight years ago.

A SPEECH and drama group from Occidental College, Los Angeles, Calif., will be presenting the show, sponsored by the May 4 Task Force.

Craig Blazinski, chairperson of the Task Force, said CBS plans to air portions of the tape during its national morning news show.

"There's a good possibility they'll use it on the Walter Cronkite evening news also, but that's not definite," Blazinski said.

The show, written by members of the drama group, has been presented around the country and will be shown at Yale University and the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in the near future, Blazinski said.

ACCORDING TO Blazinski, the title of the play comes from a line near the end of the production which reads: "It feels like we never came home from the funeral because justice was never served."

Blazinski said he has invited several KSU trustees, KSU President Brage Golding, several vice presidents, city and county officials and the members of the May 4 Observance Committee to attend the production.

The presentation is free and open to the public.

Wrestling record best in history

Joe Begala, former coach, dead

Joe Begala, 72, the most successful coach in Kent State athletic history, died Monday at Memorial Hospital in Ravenna.

Begala, who had recently returned from a vacation in Florida, collapsed Monday morning in his home at 1224 S. Lincoln St. after a massive heart attack. Ambulance attendants attempted to revive Begala but he was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

BEGALA CAME here in 1929 after attending Southern High School and earning a bachelor's degree from Ohio University. He intended to go to Western Reserve Law School after one year at Kent, but stayed and earned a bachelor's degree in Education in 1933. He received a master's degree in physical education and psychology from Ohio State in 1935.

Begala, best known for his winning wrestling teams, coached six different sports here and was head trainer for all teams until 1952.

He established track and field, cross-country and golf as full-time varsity sports, and in 1959, said he had the best wrestling team in the U.S. with an 8-1 record.

He compiled a won-lost record of 394 wins, 150 losses and 12 ties for all sports. In 42 seasons, Begala directed the Flash wrestling squads to 307 wins, 69 losses and five ties, a winning percentage of 812. The mark still stands as the best in U.S. history. The wrestling record includes seven undefeated seasons, but Begala also coached two undefeated teams in track and one in golf.

He retired from coaching in 1971.

He was a member of the Ohio High School Coaches Association Hall of Fame, the Helms Hall of Fame and the Ohio University Hall of Fame.

BEGALA, emeritus professor of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, retired from teaching in 1972.

He served as a Lt. Commander in the U.S. Navy from 1942 to 1946. He taught hard-to-hand combat at a naval pre-flight school in Georgia and co-authored a book on the subject.

He is survived by his wife, Harnett; two sons, Jergen of Atlanta, Georgia, and John of Kent, who is the State Representative from the 62nd district; and six grandchildren.

Calling hours will be Wednesday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in Tinker-Fries Funeral Home in Kent.

Services are tentatively set for 10 a.m. at the funeral home. Burial will be in Standing Rock Cemetery in Kent.

The family requests all memorial donations be made to the Joe Begala Scholarship Fund, in care of the City Bank of Kent.

Student Caucus elections will begin today and run through Friday.

The polls, located on the first floor lobby of the Student Center, will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. today through Thursday, and from 7:30 a.m. to noon Friday.

Patty Brooks, chairperson of the Elections Commission said students have a valid student ID to vote.
