THE MAY 4 TASK FORCE'S ANNUAL FALL FORUM

Sponsored by

Thursday, December 6 7:00 pm
Kent Student Center KIVA
The purpose of Fall Forum 1990 is to present the viewpoints of the people who were affected by the incidents of May 4, 1970. A panel discussion will enable us to see the similarities and differences of experience. This is an excellent opportunity for direct analysis from a primary source; THESE ARE THE PEOPLE WHO WERE THERE. Furthermore, we do not want to encourage a single point of view, or minimize the controversy that has surrounded the event.

We encourage you to ask questions. We have an excellent moderator who will make sure that all views are presented, thus resulting in a balanced program.
Scheduled Guests:

Carl Moore: Moderator
Presently, Professor Moore is in the Department of Speech and Communication at KSU. In 1970, Dr. Moore was a new faculty member here at Kent State. He was also the head of the ACLU and involved in events surrounding the shootings. Currently, he is a co-chairman on the Government's Commission on Peace and Conflict Management and is the Program Chair for the National Conference of Peace Making and Conflict Resolution.

Roseanne Canfora-Knepp
Chicana Canfora was a student activist, protestor, and eyewitness to the events of May 4th and preceding days. She is now a teacher and continues active participation in contemporary political movements.

John Cleary
John Cleary was one of the wounded students and has since become a noted spokesperson on the causes and significance of the events of May 4th. John is currently an architect in Pittsburgh.

Lewis Copeland
Mr. Copeland was one of the many politically aware African American students at Kent in 1970. Mr. Copeland will speak of the significance of the war in the context of his experiences.

Joe Cullum
Eyewitness to the shootings at the time and later indicted as part of the Kent 25 (those charged with inciting to riot), Joe will be discussing the radicalizing effect of the events.

Mary Ann Lamovsky
Mary Ann was a student activist at KSU in 1970 and earlier. She was a member of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) and will speak of the attitudes of the time and the views of student activists.

Tom Lough
Presently, Dr. Lough is a Professor of Sociology and Anthropology at KSU. He is a noted scholar on the events and causes of the incident on May 4th. He offers an analysis of these events as being premeditated and is able to provide significant supporting evidence.

Cass McKay-Bricker
Cass owns the downtown business that bears her name, but in 1970, she was a student at Kent State. Ms. Bricker offers the view of a nonprotestor, but like other mainstream students at the time, she was much affected by these events and will describe things as she and others experienced them.

Frank McNeil
Frank owns McNeil Travel in downtown Kent. He was in the downtown business community in 1970 and will be able to present the perspective and attitude of that group.
If you are interested in further information on the events leading up to and including May 4th, join us at our meetings. They are every THURSDAY at 6:45 in room 314 of the Kent Student Center. This is your chance to become informed and to get involved in the planning of the annual May 4th Commemoration.

Our office is located in room 237 of the Kent Student Center and the phone number is: 672-3096 or 672-2424. Stop in or call. Look for our tables on Thursday afternoons between 11-2. We welcome your support.
Joe Cullum saves fellow-KSU student John Cleary on May 4, 1970, during the Kent State massacre.

John Cleary & Joe Cullum publicly speak at KSU for the first time since 1970.
